Welcome

Hey, I'm Taylor.

I'm a fitness coach based in South Tampa, and for the last six months I've been building something in the background: one high-protein crockpot recipe, every single week, since January 1st, 2026.

Some of these recipes have taken off on Instagram. Enough of them that I kept getting the same message over and over: "Can you put these all in one place?"

So I did.

This cookbook is every recipe I've built through this year. A system that has kept me consistent, nourished, hitting my protein, and off the emotional rollercoaster of scrambling last-minute weeknight decisions.

If you're busy and trying to eat better without spending your whole life in the kitchen, this book is for you. If you've ever stared into your fridge at 6pm with no plan and no energy to make one, this book is for you.

Consistency is the only thing that actually works long-term. This cookbook is my way of making consistency easier for you than it's ever been for me.

Let's get cooking.

- Taylor

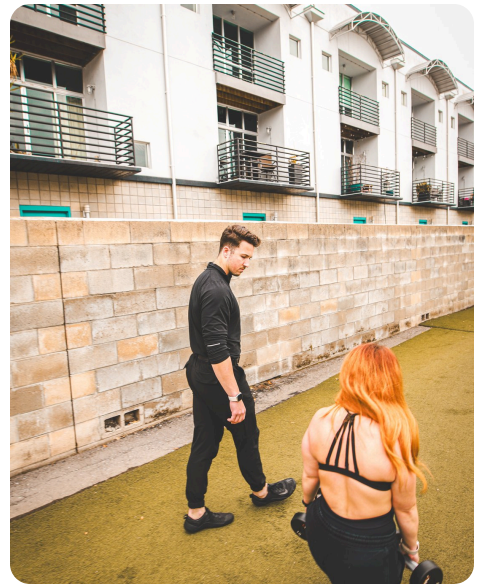

Why I Made This Cookbook

Most people don't fail at nutrition because they're lazy. They fail because their plan asks too much of them: too much time, too much thinking, too many decisions, every single day.

I see it constantly with my coaching clients. It's never that they don't want results. It's that the plan they're following requires more willpower than any human has five days in a row.

So I built the opposite. One weekly crockpot recipe. Dump it in, walk away, and come back to a week of high-protein meals that are already portioned and ready. No thinking involved after the first ten minutes.

These recipes are built to be macro-friendly, realistic, and meal-prep focused. Not because I think you need to eat "perfectly," but because a repeatable system beats a perfect plan you can't stick to every time.

How to Use This Cookbook

This isn't meant to be read front to back. Flip to whatever section fits your week and start there.

Each recipe follows the same format: a short description of what the meal is and who it's for, a macro box with calories, protein, carbs, fat, and servings, a simple grocery list, numbered instructions, and a coach's tip that gives you one piece of nutrition or meal prep insight to take with you.

Pick a recipe. Buy the ingredients. Set aside one day a week (Sunday works well for most people) to let the crockpot do the work. Portion it out, and your week is handled.

If a QR code is included, scan it to watch me make that exact recipe on Instagram.

My Meal Prep Philosophy

Protein is the anchor of every meal. Everything else (carbs, fat, vegetables) gets built around it, not the other way around.

Meal prep isn't about eating the same thing every day out of restriction. It's about removing decision fatigue during the busiest hours of your week, so the only decision left is whether to heat something up.

Crockpot meals make this easier than almost any other method, because the effort is front-loaded. Ten minutes of prep on a Sunday buys you five to six days of already-made, already-portioned food.

A good plan beats motivation every time. Motivation is unreliable. A crockpot full of food in your fridge is not.

Why Protein Matters

Protein does more heavy lifting for your goals than any other macro.

It keeps you full longer than carbs or fat, which makes it easier to stay in a calorie deficit without feeling like you're white-knuckling your way through the day. It preserves muscle while you lose fat, which is the difference between losing weight and losing weight the way you actually want to look and feel. And it has the highest thermic effect of any macronutrient, meaning your body burns more calories digesting it.

Most people underestimate how much protein they actually need and overestimate how hard it is to get there. Every recipe in this book is built to make hitting your protein target the easy option, not the thing you have to work around.

Crockpot Meal Prep Tips

Don't lift the lid while it's cooking. Every time you peek, you let out heat and add time to the cook. Trust the timer.

Shred meat directly in the crockpot when you can. It stays juicier and picks up more of the sauce than shredding it separately and adding it back in.

Let everything cool completely before sealing your containers. Sealing hot food traps steam, which turns your meal prep soggy and shortens how long it stays fresh.

Reserve a little pasta or rice water before draining. It's the easiest way to loosen up a cream sauce that's gone too thick after sitting.

If a recipe says LOW for 6-7 hours or HIGH for 3-4 hours, those aren't interchangeable exactly. LOW tends to build more flavor over time, HIGH is for when you're short on hours. Either works, so pick based on your schedule.

Equipment Guide

You don't need a fully stocked kitchen to make anything in this book. Here's what actually gets used:

A 6 to 8-quart crockpot or slow cooker, big enough to handle the higher-serving recipes in this book without overflowing.

Meal prep containers, ideally with separate compartments for the recipes that call for it. Glass holds up better long-term, but any leak-proof container works.

A digital food scale, if you want your macros to be accurate rather than approximate.

Two forks or a set of meat-shredding claws, for shredding chicken, pork, and beef directly in the crockpot.

A blender or immersion blender, used in a handful of recipes to smooth out cheese sauces and bean purées.

That's it. No sous vide, no stand mixer, no specialty gadgets required.

Grocery Shopping Strategy

Buy your protein in bulk when it's on sale, and freeze what you're not using that week. Chicken breast, chicken thighs, and ground beef all freeze well and thaw fine for crockpot cooking.

Plan your week before you shop, not after. Pick 1 to 2 recipes from this book, build one shopping list from both, and buy exactly what you need. This is where most people either save or waste money on groceries.

Keep a running pantry of the staples that show up again and again in this book: garlic powder, onion powder, chicken broth, canned tomatoes, and low-fat Greek yogurt. Restocking these a few at a time keeps your weekly grocery bill lower.

Don't over-buy fresh produce for the whole week if you're new to meal prepping. Buy what one or two recipes need, use it, and build from there.

SERVINGS

GROCERY LIST

- 2 lbs boneless skinless chicken thighs
- 1 cup sugar-free BBQ sauce, plus extra for drizzling
- 1/3 cup low-sodium chicken broth
- 1.5 cups low-fat plain Greek yogurt, room temperature
- 100g reduced-fat fiesta blend cheese, shredded
- 1/2 cup fat-free milk
- 16 oz chickpea cavatappi pasta
- 1 tsp Dijon mustard
- 35g cornstarch
- Garlic powder, onion powder, smoked paprika
- Salt and black pepper
- 4 green onions, sliced

BBQ Chicken Mac & Cheese · *continuedINSTRUCTIONS

- 1 Place the chicken thighs in the crockpot in a single layer. Pour the BBQ sauce and chicken broth over the top and season with garlic powder, onion powder, smoked paprika, salt, and pepper.
- 2 Cover and cook on LOW for 6-7 hours or HIGH for 3-4 hours.
- 3 Shred the chicken with two forks and stir it back into the sauce at the bottom of the crockpot. Switch to WARM.
- 4 Cook the chickpea cavatappi in salted water until al dente. Reserve 1/2 cup of pasta water, then drain.
- 5 Whisk the Greek yogurt, shredded cheese, milk, Dijon mustard, and cornstarch together until smooth. Whisk in a few tablespoons of hot pasta water to temper it.
- 6 Fold the hot pasta into the sauce until fully coated, loosening with reserved pasta water if needed.
- 7 Layer mac and cheese on the bottom of each container, top with BBQ shredded chicken, a drizzle of extra BBQ sauce, and sliced green onions. Cool completely before sealing.

COACH'S TIP

BBQ sauce hides sugar fast. Stick to a sugar-free version like the one listed here so your carbs stay predictable.

GROCERY LIST

- 4.6 lbs chicken breast (family pack)
- 16 oz cavatappi or cellentani pasta
- 2 cups chicken bone broth
- 1.5 cups buffalo sauce
- 1 cup plain Greek yogurt
- 1 block reduced-fat cream cheese
- 2 cups reduced-fat shredded cheddar or Colby-Jack
- 1-1.5 tsp ranch seasoning
- 1 tsp salt (adjust to taste)
- 1/2 tsp black pepper
- 1 tsp garlic powder
- 1 tsp paprika

Buffalo Chicken Mac & Cheese · *continuedINSTRUCTIONS

- 1 Add chicken breast, bone broth, buffalo sauce, ranch seasoning, salt, pepper, garlic powder, and paprika to the crockpot.
- 2 Cook on LOW for 4 hours until the chicken is fully cooked.
- 3 Shred the chicken directly in the crockpot.
- 4 Stir in the cream cheese and Greek yogurt until fully melted and smooth.
- 5 Add the dry pasta, cover, and cook 30-40 minutes, stirring once halfway, until al dente.
- 6 Stir in the shredded cheese until melted and creamy.
- 7 Portion into containers once finished.

COACH'S TIP

This one runs higher in calories by design, built for bigger appetites and training days. If you're cutting, treat it as a refeed-day meal rather than an everyday portion.

- 198g reduced-fat Mexican-style cheese
- 25g plain Greek yogurt per bowl (added after cooking)

Chicken Fajita Pasta · *continuedINSTRUCTIONS

- 1 Add chicken breast, frozen peppers & onions, diced tomatoes with chilies, fajita seasoning, and chicken broth to the crockpot.
- 2 Cook on HIGH for 3-4 hours until the chicken shreds easily.
- 3 Shred the chicken directly in the crockpot.
- 4 Add the dry protein pasta and cook on HIGH for 45 minutes.
- 5 20 minutes in, mix in the reduced-fat Mexican-style cheese.
- 6 Once the pasta is tender, portion into containers and top each bowl with 25g plain Greek yogurt for extra creaminess and protein.

COACH'S TIP

If your goal is fat loss, this is a good template meal: high-volume and high-protein without being calorie-dense. Use it as your baseline for what a solid dinner should look like.

- Plain Greek yogurt, for topping (150g)
- Chili powder, cumin, garlic powder, salt & pepper
- Optional: fresh cilantro, jalapeño, lime wedges

Chicken Enchilada Pasta · *continuedINSTRUCTIONS

- 1 Place chicken thighs in the crockpot. Pour enchilada sauce and chicken broth over the top. Add black beans, corn, green chiles, and spices.
- 2 Cover and cook on LOW for 6 hours or HIGH for 3-4 hours until the chicken shreds easily.
- 3 Shred the chicken directly in the crockpot.
- 4 Cube and stir in the cream cheese until melted and creamy.
- 5 Half-cook the protein pasta, drain, and stir it into the crockpot.
- 6 Stir in the fiesta blend cheese until melted. Taste and adjust seasoning.
- 7 Divide into 8 containers. Top with Greek yogurt, cilantro, jalapeño, or lime when serving.

COACH'S TIP

Top with plain Greek yogurt instead of sour cream when you serve it. Same creaminess, meaningfully more protein for almost no extra effort.

Greek Chicken Pasta · *continuedINSTRUCTIONS

- 1 Place chicken breasts in the crockpot with minced garlic, oregano, salt, pepper, and the juice of 2 lemons. Toss to coat.
- 2 Cook on HIGH for about 3 hours, until the chicken reaches 165°F and shreds easily.
- 3 While it cooks, dice the cucumber, halve the cherry tomatoes, slice the red onion, and halve the olives. Toss with a squeeze of lemon, salt, and pepper, and refrigerate.
- 4 Shred the chicken directly in the crockpot and mix with the pan juices. Switch to WARM.
- 5 Cook the rigatoni in salted water, reserving 1 cup of pasta water before draining.
- 6 Add the pasta to the crockpot with the chicken and toss in the lemon garlic juices, loosening with pasta water if needed.
- 7 Stir in the baby spinach and let it wilt for about 2 minutes.
- 8 Add the cucumber-tomato-olive mixture, mix, and finish with feta. Divide into 10 servings.

- 3 Lay the chicken thighs into the sauce in a single layer, pressing down so they're mostly covered.
- 4 Cook on LOW for 6-7 hours or HIGH for 3-4 hours.
- 5 Shred the chicken and stir it back into the sauce.
- 6 Cook the rice: 1 cup dry rice to 1.5 cups water, boil, reduce to low, cover for 15 minutes, then steam off-heat for 5 more minutes.
- 7 Build bowls with rice on the bottom and coconut curry on top. Garnish with green onion and cilantro.

COACH'S TIP

Curry pastes vary a lot in sodium and heat. Start with less than the recipe calls for, taste, then add more. You can't take it back out.

SERVINGS

GROCERY LIST

- 1350g chicken breast, diced
- 6 tomatillos
- 1 bunch cilantro
- 5 poblano peppers
- 5 jalapeños
- 200g avocado (1 large or 2 medium)
- 300g 0% Greek yogurt
- 90ml low-fat milk
- 1.5 lemons
- Garlic powder, onion powder, salt
- 3 cups dry jasmine or sushi rice

Creamy Avocado Chicken · *continuedINSTRUCTIONS

- 1 Dice the chicken and add to the crockpot with diced tomatillos, cilantro stems, juice of 1/2 lemon, and garlic powder, onion powder, and salt. Cook on HIGH 2-3 hours or LOW 3-4 hours.
- 2 Air-fry the poblanos, jalapeños, and garlic at 350°F for 20 minutes (or roast at 400°F for 30-35 minutes), then peel off the skins.
- 3 Blend the roasted peppers with the avocado, Greek yogurt, milk, cilantro leaves, juice of 1 lemon, salt, and pepper until creamy.
- 4 Cook the rice separately.
- 5 Shred or cube the cooked chicken.
- 6 Stir the rice and sauce into the chicken.
- 7 Portion into 10 servings at about 270g each.

COACH'S TIP

This one has an extra roasting step for the peppers. If your week is already packed, save this recipe for a Sunday with a little more time instead of a rushed weeknight.

- 1 tbsp minced garlic
- 1 bag (16 oz) frozen fajita veggie blend
- 1 bag (12-15 oz) frozen corn
- 1.5 cups dry jasmine rice
- 1 packet taco seasoning
- 1/2 cup low-sodium chicken broth
- Optional: fresh cilantro

Dump-and-Go Mexican Bowl · *continuedINSTRUCTIONS

- 1 Add the frozen fajita veggies, corn, drained black beans, the whole can of Rotel, chicken broth, garlic, and taco seasoning to the crockpot.
- 2 Lay the chicken thighs on top in a single layer. Cover and cook LOW for 6 hours or HIGH for 3-4 hours.
- 3 Shred the chicken and stir it back in to soak up the juices.
- 4 Cook the rice: 1 cup dry rice to 1.5 cups water, boil, reduce to low for 25 minutes, then steam off-heat for 5 more minutes.
- 5 Build bowls with rice on the bottom, chicken and veggie mix on top, a squeeze of lime, and green onions and cilantro if using.

COACH'S TIP

If cost is a barrier to consistency, this is your answer. A full week of meals here costs less than a single restaurant bowl.

- 5 slices thick cut bacon
- 198g reduced-fat fiesta blend cheese
- 250g plain Greek yogurt
- 75g 1/3-fat cream cheese
- 240 ml chicken broth
- 2 tbsp ranch seasoning
- Salt
- Onion powder
- Garlic powder
- Green onions (optional garnish)

Crazy Chicken and Rice · *continuedINSTRUCTIONS

- 1 Place the chicken breast in the bottom of the crockpot and season with ranch seasoning, salt, onion powder, and garlic powder.
- 2 Add the cream cheese on top of the chicken and pour in the chicken broth.
- 3 Cover and cook on HIGH for 4 hours.
- 4 While the chicken cooks, cook the jasmine rice using your normal method.
- 5 Cook the bacon in a pan or air fryer until crispy, then let it cool slightly and chop or crumble it into pieces.
- 6 When the chicken is finished cooking, shred it directly in the crockpot.
- 7 Add the cooked rice, Greek yogurt, fiesta blend cheese, and most of the bacon to the crockpot.
- 8 Stir everything together until creamy and evenly combined.
- 9 Divide into 10 containers and top each serving with the remaining bacon and optional green onions.

COACH'S TIP

Bacon and ranch do a lot of flavor work here for very little effort. Keep the bacon portion modest since it's the easiest ingredient in this one to go overboard on.

- 1/3 cup fresh parsley, chopped
- 30g grated parmesan, optional

Escarole & Cannellini Bean Soup with Ground Turkey · *continuedINSTRUCTIONS

- 1 Drain and rinse 2 cans of cannellini beans. Blend with 1 cup of the chicken broth until completely smooth. This is your soup base.
- 2 Brown the ground turkey in a skillet with olive oil, seasoning with oregano, thyme, garlic powder, onion powder, salt, and pepper, about 7-10 minutes. Drain excess fat. Add the onion and garlic and cook 2 more minutes.
- 3 Pour the bean purée into the crockpot with the remaining 3 cups of broth. Add the remaining 2 cans of whole cannellini beans. Transfer in the browned turkey mixture and red pepper flakes if using. Stir together.
- 4 Cover and cook on LOW for 5 hours or HIGH for 2-3 hours.
- 5 Add the escarole in batches, stirring between additions so it wilts down. Cover and cook on HIGH for 20-25 minutes until fully tender.
- 6 Stir in the lemon juice and adjust salt and pepper.
- 7 Ladle into 8 containers and top with parsley and parmesan if using.

COACH'S TIP

This is one of the few recipes in the book built around a leafy green as a main ingredient, not a garnish. If your vegetable intake is usually the first thing to slip, start here.

- 2 lbs 93% lean ground beef
- 2 lbs russet potatoes (about 4 medium), diced
- 1 can (15.5 oz) dark red kidney beans, drained
- 1 can (15.25 oz) black beans, drained
- 1 can (14.5 oz) no-salt-added petite diced tomatoes
- 1 can (11 oz) whole kernel corn, drained
- 1 cup (240g) beef broth
- 200g sugar-free BBQ sauce
- Chili seasoning blend, to taste

Cowboy Beef & Potato Chili · *continuedINSTRUCTIONS

- 1 Layer the raw ground beef on the bottom of the crockpot.
- 2 Add the corn, kidney beans, black beans, and diced tomatoes on top.
- 3 Pour in the beef broth, BBQ sauce, and chili seasoning.
- 4 Cook on HIGH for 2 hours.
- 5 After 2 hours, mix everything together and break up the beef.
- 6 Switch to LOW and cook overnight for 10 hours.

COACH'S TIP

This is a great overnight recipe for people who train early. Set it before bed, portion it in the morning, and breakfast decision fatigue is solved too.

GROCERY LIST

- 1 onion, diced
- 1 bell pepper, diced
- 1 jalapeño, diced
- 2 lbs 93/7 ground beef
- Salt, black pepper, garlic powder, chili powder, to taste
- 1 can kidney beans, drained and rinsed
- 1 can black beans, drained and rinsed
- 1 can green chiles
- 1 cup beef stock
- 1 (15 oz) can diced tomatoes
- 1 (6 oz) can tomato paste
- 1 packet chili seasoning

High-Protein Crockpot Chili · *continuedINSTRUCTIONS

- 1 Add the diced onion, bell pepper, jalapeño, kidney beans, black beans, and green chiles to the crockpot.
- 2 Season the ground beef with salt, pepper, garlic powder, and chili powder. Place it on top of the vegetables without breaking it up.
- 3 Mix the beef stock, diced tomatoes, tomato paste, and chili seasoning packet in a bowl, then pour it over the crockpot, lightly stirring the top only.
- 4 Cover and cook on HIGH for 3-4 hours or LOW for 6-8 hours.
- 5 Halfway through, break up the ground beef and let it finish cooking.
- 6 Serve topped with plain Greek yogurt instead of sour cream for extra protein.

COACH'S TIP

Top with plain Greek yogurt instead of sour cream. It's a small swap that adds several grams of protein per serving with almost no flavor tradeoff.

SERVINGS

GROCERY LIST

- 2 lbs ground turkey, 93/7
- 2 cans (30 oz total) pinto beans, drained & rinsed
- 1 can (28 oz) diced tomatoes
- 3 cups low-sodium beef broth
- Frozen pepper & onion blend (or raw peppers & onions)
- 3 celery stalks
- 1 tbsp garlic paste
- 2 tbsp Cajun seasoning
- 1 tsp smoked paprika
- 1/2 tsp cayenne pepper
- 1 tsp dried oregano
- 1 tsp dried thyme
- 1/2 tsp black pepper
- 1 tbsp hot sauce
- Green onions and lime, for topping

Spicy Cajun Ground Turkey & Pinto Bean Soup · *continuedINSTRUCTIONS

- 1 Dice the onion, bell pepper, and celery (or use a frozen blend). Mix the spices together in a bowl.
- 2 Heat a pan and cook the veggies 4-6 minutes until soft. Add garlic paste, stir 1 minute, then add half the spice blend and bloom for 30 seconds.
- 3 Add the ground turkey to the pan, breaking it apart, and cook until no pink remains, about 6-7 minutes. Add the remaining spice blend. Drain excess fat.
- 4 Transfer everything to the crockpot. Add the pinto beans, diced tomatoes with liquid, beef broth, and hot sauce. Stir to combine.
- 5 Cover and cook on LOW for 6 hours or HIGH for 3-4 hours.
- 6 About 30 minutes before serving, taste and adjust heat and smokiness.
- 7 Ladle into 6 containers and finish with green onions, parsley, and a squeeze of lime.

COACH'S TIP

If your goal is fat loss, meals like this, high in protein, fiber, and volume, are your best tool for staying full on fewer calories. Lean on soups more than you think you need to.

SERVINGS

GROCERY LIST

- 2 lbs boneless chicken thighs
- 2 cups carrots, sliced into coins
- 1 cup celery, sliced
- 1 cup yellow onion, diced
- 15g minced garlic
- 6 cups low-sodium chicken broth
- 400g wide egg noodles
- 1 tsp dried thyme
- 1 tsp dried parsley
- 2 bay leaves
- 1 tsp salt
- 1/2 tsp black pepper

Crockpot Chicken Noodle Soup · *continuedINSTRUCTIONS

- 1 Slice the carrots and celery, dice the onion, and mince the garlic.
- 2 Place the chicken thighs in the bottom of the crockpot. Add the carrots, celery, onion, and garlic on top. Pour in the broth, season with thyme, parsley, salt, and pepper, and drop in the bay leaves.
- 3 Cover and cook on LOW for 7-8 hours or HIGH for 3-4 hours, until the chicken pulls apart easily.
- 4 Remove the chicken, shred with two forks, and discard the bay leaves. Stir the shredded chicken back into the broth.
- 5 Stir in the egg noodles, switch to HIGH, and cook 15-20 more minutes until just tender.
- 6 Adjust salt and pepper, ladle into bowls, and finish with fresh parsley.

COACH'S TIP

Consistency gets easier when your food is already made before you need willpower. This is exactly the kind of low-effort recipe that keeps a rough week from turning into a rough month.

FAQ

Do I need an expensive crockpot for these recipes?

No. Any standard 6-8 quart slow cooker works. You don't need a smart model or a specific brand.

Can I use chicken breast instead of chicken thighs, or the reverse?

Yes, in most recipes. Thighs stay juicier over long cook times and are more forgiving; breast is leaner but can dry out if overcooked. Adjust cook time down slightly if you swap to breast.

How long do these meals last in the fridge or freezer?

Most recipes hold up in the fridge for 4-5 days. Nearly all of them freeze well. Portion into individual containers before freezing for the easiest reheating.

Can I cut these recipes down to fewer servings?

Yes. Every recipe scales down proportionally: just reduce each ingredient by the same percentage. Cook times stay roughly the same for crockpot recipes since it's more about temperature than volume.

What if I don't eat one of the main ingredients?

Swap proteins of similar type (chicken thigh for chicken breast, turkey for beef) freely. Dairy swaps (Greek yogurt for sour cream, any reduced-fat shredded cheese) are also flexible. Macros will shift slightly.

Are these recipes kid- or family-friendly?

Most of them, yes. Several are already family staples in my own circle. A few (Thai Peanut Chicken, Buffalo-based recipes) run spicier; dial back the hot sauce or cayenne if you're serving kids.

I don't see exact macros for every recipe. What's going on?

Every recipe in this book is real and tested in my own kitchen. A few had incomplete macro data at the time of printing and are marked clearly. Updated macros will be added as those are finalized.

I want more than just recipes. What's next?

That's exactly what coaching is for. Recipes give you meals. Coaching gives you the full system: training, nutrition, and structure built around your life. Keep reading.

About Taylor

I'm Taylor Schneider, a fitness coach based in South Tampa. I train 1:1 clients, run semi-private sessions, coach a women's GluteCamp, and work with online coaching clients across the country.

My approach is simple: build a plan that fits your actual life, not the other way around. I care about strength, fat loss, and confidence, but more than any of those, I care about consistency, because none of the rest works without it.

This cookbook came out of the same philosophy I coach with. Complicated plans fail. Simple systems, repeated consistently, win. If these recipes have made your week even a little easier, coaching is where we take it further.

Ready for a Plan Built Specifically for You?

These recipes are a starting point. They can help you eat more protein, reduce decision fatigue, and make your weeks easier. But if you want a complete plan built around your body, schedule, goals, training, and lifestyle, that's where coaching comes in.

As a coach, I help clients:

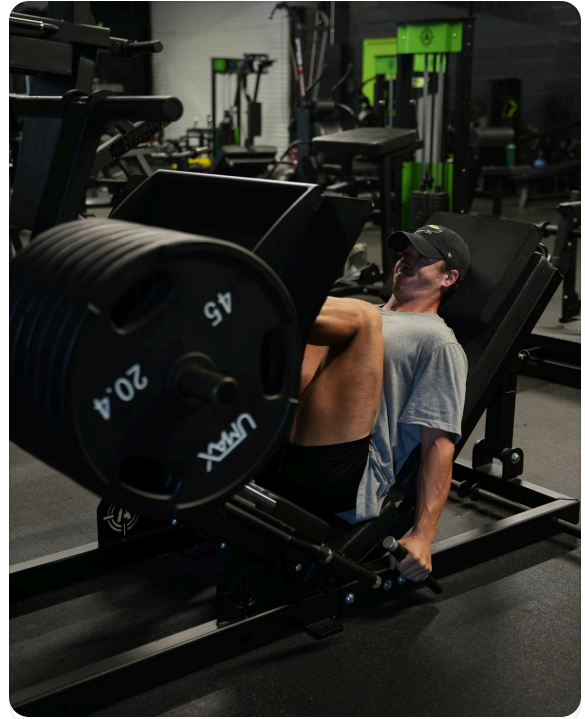

- Build strength
- Lose fat
- Improve confidence
- Eat more consistently
- Create repeatable systems
- Stop starting over every Monday
- Learn how to train and eat in a way that fits their actual life

What's Next?

You've got recipes, a grocery strategy, and a system that removes the guesswork from healthy eating. Here's what to do with it.

Pick one recipe this week. Just one. Buy the ingredients, let the crockpot do the work, and see how much easier your week feels with food already made.

If you want help going further, building a full nutrition and training plan around your goals, schedule, and life, that's exactly what coaching is for.
